

Lesson #20

Reptiles

Reptiles have skin with dry scales. They use lungs to breathe. Most reptiles have four legs. Most reptiles lay eggs. A turtle is the only reptile that has a shell. A snake is a reptile. Lizards and alligators are reptiles, too.

1. _____ have skin with dry scales.

2. What is the only reptile that has a shell?

3. Give an example of a reptile. _____

4. Which tool is shown?

Use the chart to answer the questions below.

	Breathe	Outside Covering	Babies
Mammals	lungs	hair or fur	born
Fish	gills	scales	hatched from eggs
Birds	lungs	feathers	hatched from eggs

5. Which of these animal groups lay eggs?

- A) birds and mammals
- B) birds and fish
- C) fish and mammals

6. Which group breathes with gills? _____

7. Which group has hair or fur? _____

8. Which groups breathe with lungs?
