

Photosynthesis

Plants use light energy from the sun to make the food that they need to grow.

Word Bank:
Carbon Dioxide Chlorophyll Oxygen
Sunlight Water

Light energy comes from here.

This comes from the air.

This is released back into the air.

Found inside plant cells, it traps the sun's light to start the process of photosynthesis.

This is gathered by plant's roots in the soil.

